

Camporee Event Wide Cook-Off

This has become a tradition at all of our camporees. It is a great way to encourage fellowship amongst the troops and packs. What better way to get to know one another than breaking bread with them.

Each unit (packs and troops) will need to contribute a dessert to share with the rest of the attendees. At a minimum, this dessert should be enough to feed your entire unit including leaders plus a few extra adults, but you are strongly encouraged to bring more. Remember that your score will improve if more people are able to sample your dessert! Desserts such as cobblers or desserts that can be divided into many servings work best in events such as these.

Each Scout at the event will receive a ticket. They will have a chance to vote for their favorite dessert. Sorry, no voting for your own unit.

Each unit will need to supply their dessert, a server for each dessert and utensils for serving and of course each scout needs his own mess kit.

Also, all entries must be prepared on site. Please be sure to trade out your servers during the event so that they have a chance to eat too!

This will be a tasting event so; the servers need to only give each scout a taste of what their unit has prepared. All of the tastes should add up to a full dessert with all of the different desserts. If you have scouts in your unit with special nutritional needs you may need to have a backup plan for those scouts. District staff will organize a central dining location
